

AAU Megaproject – Blue Denmark

Energy and Production

Focus area: Energy Islands

3 project groups from Political Science

- 2 groups of 2nd semester students and 1 group 6th semester students
- All three political science projects focused on NIMBYism and studied local decision-making processes and initiatives that could increase local support or reduce the opposition to onshore wind farms
 - One of the projects addressed different models of local ownership
 - One project compared to public hearings addressing onshore wind farms
 - Another project studied the impact of NIMBYism on Ringkøbing-Skjern Municipality's approval of the expansion of the Lem Kær wind turbine test site
- Project activities ran in parallel with two general online meetings and an excursion to the wind turbine shipping area at the Port of Esbjerg.

